It's the royal club of Spain, the second highest-earning club in the world, and one of the most widely supported. It's never been relegated from La Liga, with a trophy cabinet almost as big as the 81,000 capacity Estadio Santiago Bernabéu including the most Champions Leagues ever. From di Stefano to Zidane, Real Madrid is the football of the Gods!

"2002. The Champions League final against Bayer Leverkusen. Two Madrid players, two legends, Raúl and Zidane, two goals, giving us our ninth European cup, and bringing us so close to La Décima we could almost taste it. Raúl's goal, a curious mixture of perceptive cunning and cheerful scruffiness, followed by Zidane's outrageous winning volley. Perfection." - Angela, Real Madrid fan

WHAT'S INCLUDED

A Trip Captain is available 24/7 to host and enhance your experience.

8. FOOD & DRINKS

Breakfast is included every morning, two curated group dinners, and one lunch. Plus, we'll celebrate with a nightly round of drinks on Eric!

DAY 1

Your journey deep into football, into Madrid itself, begins at our hand-selected hotel, where you'll get the lowdown on the days to come with your Trip Captain and meet your new footy companions. And then you're off to the majestic, historic Santiago Bernabéu for the stadium tour – witness the stories, feel the hallowed turf, see the tunnel.

After a spot of calm and cortados at the hotel, we set the scene with an epic 90-minute Real Madrid-themed evening walking tour through the Spanish capital's streets. See the sights that made football history, from the Palacio Real to the fountain at Cibeles, to the Paseo del Prado.

At this moment of thirst and hunger, we kick off the evening with tapas and drinks. Try the local vermouth (Madrileños and fans' tippable of choice) at dive bar Los Chanquetes, run by a Real Madrid obsessive.

DAY 2

A leisurely morning and breakfast at the hotel gives way to an iconic street art tour into Lavapiès, Madrid's hip cultural and football district. Then we head over to lunch, tapas, and beer of course, at the famous Madrid landmark Mercado de San Fernando.

Wherever we go, giving back to the community is top of mind. We'll head to a local football charity called Los Dragones de Lavapiès to see how this grassroots football club helps underprivileged kids get into the beautiful game. You may even have the chance to enjoy a kickabout!

After a break back at the hotel, we'll head to a peña Madridista (a Real Madrid fan club) for some food, drinks, and football banter in preparation for the big game. Then it's dinner out and about at a traditional Spanish restaurant. If you're game to keep the night going prepare for a late one in the city of Madrid, or choose to hit the sack early and hold out until tomorrow.

DAY 3

It's matchday and we are going all out football, all out Real Madrid.

After breakfast at a local café it's time for an RM football Masterclass with El País sports writer Pablo Van De Rusten, before heading for lunch at classic Spanish restaurant Casa Juan, a place with so many special photographs of great football moments on the wall you'll know you're in the right place.

Now it's time to learn the chants with the proper fans as you join super Real Madrid supporter Antonio and his peña al Ataque for our Human First singalong. You couldn't be more prepared for the game if you tried.

Pre-game drinks and snacks then it's time to enter the temple that is the Bernebéu for the Game. You'll be sitting with the Madridistas, raising your voices to the gods and cheering Real on. There is simply no atmosphere quite like this.

Post-match, celebrations are hopefully in order at supporter bar La Terca next to the stadium, then you'll hit sports bar Fontana de Oro for food, drinks, and a final night celebration.

DAY 4

It's the morning after a match like no other. And win or lose (we're betting for a win), we'll be on a high. After breakfast at the hotel, it's time for goodbyes - to the royal Spanish city, to Real, and to Looking FC.

Until next time!
